

Our Man

Oct 1945

Visiting Troy on a 15-day furlough was one of the D. T.'s former sports editors, Fred Nicholas, now a lieutenant in the U. S. army. Just arrived from a Georgia officers' training school, Nick looked like a million.

Called from SC last October, "victim" of the pre-war draft. Fred entered the service a buck private. Pneumonia and an operation failed to down him, and after recuperating he was recommended from the ranks of officers' school by his commanding officer.
